TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

This serves to confirm that David Conradie and Neill Patterson from P&C Thatch & Construction, have completed various building construction projects for me.

They have a hands-on approach, being on site themselves most of the time, which ensures quality, supervised workmanship and eliminates the need for any section of projects having to be redone due to errors.

Their work is of a generally higher standard than the norm.

They have always been reasonably priced, completed projects on time and were always willing to repair or redo any flaws at their expense and when most convenient for me, time-wise.

I would certainly recommend them to any prospective client.

For any further details, please do not hesitate to contact me.
